PRESIDENT CALLS FOR CO-OPERATION

URGES EMPLOYERS IN THE NATION TO SUPPORT HIS PLAN FOR RECOVERY.

Washington, D. C., July 24.—President Roosevelt tonight called upon all employers in the nation to put into immediate effect the voluntary code to shorten working hours and elevate wage levels.

Summoning the country to a quick action upon the depression, Mr. Roosevelt in a talk to the people announced his purpose to keep active in the postoffice of every town a roll of honor "of all those who join with me."

"I ask, he said, 'that even before the dates set in the agreement which we have sent out, the employers of the country who have not already done so—the big fellow and the little fellows—shall at once write or telegraph to me personally at the White House, expressing their intention of going through with the plans. And it is my purpose to keep posted in the postoffice of every town a roll of honor of all those who join with me.'"

Praising the co-operation so far given to the attempt for American industry to spread work and increase wages, the President said he recognized that a few men might try to thwart "this great common purpose by seeking selfish advantage."

He noted there are adequate penalties in law to meet this but he urged instead a voluntary co-operation and announced this would be the only instrument

HOME LOAN BANK TO BEGIN BUSINESS

RULES ANNOUNCED FOR BORROWING MONEY TO LIFT MORTGAGES ON HOMES.

Atlanta, Ga., July 25.—Frank A. Holden, Georgia manager of the Home Owners' Loan Corporation, announced today that applications for loans will be accepted Monday and cited the nature of property on which funds can be borrowed.

"The Home Owners' Loan Corporation created under an act of congress provides for loans on property upon which there is located a dwelling for not more than four families, used by the owner as a home or held by him as a homestead and having an appraised value not to exceed $20,000," he said.

Loans may also be made to redeem or recover homes by owners by foreclosure, sold under power of attorney or by voluntary surrender within two years prior to negotiation of the loan.

Mr. Holden pointed out the Home Owners' Act provides for three classes of loans. He described them as follows:

"The corporation is authorized to make loans bearing interest at the rate of 5 per cent per annum on homes under mortgage made and recorded prior to June 15, 1933, to the value of the property where the holder of the mortgage is willing to accept bonds of the corporation in exchange for the mortgage. The corporation is authorized in connection with any such exchange to make advances in cash to pay the taxes and assessments on the property, to provide for necessary repairs, to meet the incidental expenses of the transaction, and to pay such amounts not exceeding $50 to the holder of the mortgage, obligation or lien acquired as may be the difference between the face value of the bond exchanged plus accrued interest thereon and the purchase price of the mortgage, obligation or lien. The face value of the bonds so exchanged plus accrued interest thereon and the cash so advanced shall not exceed in any case $14,000 or 80 per cent of the appraised value of the real estate.

"When a home is mortgaged and the mortgagee will not accept bonds, loans bearing interest at the rate of 6 per cent per annum can be made on mortgaged homes in cash to home owners who cannot obtain a loan from ordinary lending agencies by making cash advances to the extent of 40 per cent of the appraised value of the property.

"The corporation is also authorized to make advances in cash to pay taxes and assessments on real estate, to provide for necessary maintenance and to make necessary repairs and to meet incidental expenses of the transaction to owners of homes to the extent of 10 per cent of their appraised value when the property is not mortgaged. Such loans shall bear interest at 5 per cent per annum."

Mr. Holden said if the corporation acquires a mortgage it "shall be carried as a first lien or refinanced as a home mortgage by the corporation on the basis of the price paid therefor by the corporation and shall be amortized by means of monthly payments sufficient to retire the interest and principal within a period not to exceed 15 years."

In every instance, he continued the value of the home on which the loan is made is determined by appraisers of the corporation and the loan is to be secured by the first mortgage on the property.

Mr. Holden cited the following provisions of the act with reference to bonds.

Bonds issued by the corporation shall cover a period of eighteen years. They shall bear interest at the rate of 4 per cent per annum. They shall be fully and unconditionally guaranteed as to interest only by the United States.

They shall be exempt both as to principal and interest from all taxation (except surtaxes, estate inheritance and gift taxes) now or hereafter imposed by the United States, any district, territory, dependency or possession thereof or by any state, county, municipality or local taxing authority.

Any person indebted to the corporation may make payment to it in part, or in full by delivery to it of its bonds which shall be accepted by such person at face value.

"In view of the several facts above stated, these bonds should be a safe and desirable investment," Holden said.

Before any applications for loans on homes mortgaged can be approved it is necessary to know whether or not the mortgagee will accept bonds as provided in the act, and while those connected with the office will give their best efforts in the detail work with respect to any matter connected with making applications, some time and trouble might be saved

GEORGIA PEACHES OFFER MANY USES

HOUSEWIVES URGED TO PREPARE FRUIT FOR FAMILY USE DURING WINTER SEASON.

The use of peaches in the diet is urged by Miss Susan Matthews, nutritionist of the Georgia Agricultural Extension Service, in a special message to Georgia housewives.

"The Georgia peach lends itself to such a variety of uses that it can be served three times a day without becoming monotonous," she declares. "The natural sweetness of the fruit is sufficient to tempt the appetite at all times. The present crop, which is just beginning to reach its prime, should be used to the fullest."

It is doubtful whether nature has provided a more delicious fruit for the Georgia peach, according to Miss Matthews. While the peach is said to have originated in China and to have been grown there from time immemorial, it has never reached the acme of perfection there that it has here in our Georgia.

Fresh peach crops are a source of vitamins A, B and C and rank higher than many popular fruits in their mineral content. Since they are so plentiful they should be put up in large amounts for winter use, according to her advice. Drying is the cheapest method of preserving them. Soils of the most delicious peach products are the canned peach, pickled peaches, peach preserves, jam, marmalade and butter.

The use to which the peach is to be put determines the choice of variety. The real estate market is full of best pickles and preserves. It holds its shape and does not cook to pieces so readily as do many of the other varieties. Jams and marmalades, on the other hand, require varieties which break apart easily when cooked. The yellow free stone is usually preferred for canning.

Peach conserve—Four pounds of peaches (weigh after preparing), one cup shelled pecans or other nuts, three pounds sugar and two oranges. Chop peaches in one-half inch cubes. Peel oranges and chop the fruit and one-half of the peel, discarding the other peel and seed. Mix chopped peaches, orange pulp, sliced peel and sugar. Cook all together rapidly until the mixture is clear and transparent and gives in the jelly test. The nuts should be added five minutes before removing from the fire. Remove from the fire and cool slightly and pack into jars. Process 25 minutes at simmering. Seal and store in a cool dark place.

Canned peaches—Before preparing the fruit make syrup (6½ cups sugar to 1 gallon water) allowing about one cup of water for each quart jar. Use one cracked peach pit for every quart of syrup. Boil for five minutes and strain. Sort the fruit, using firm, sound, uniform peaches for canning and putting aside the soft broken ones for jam. Peel them carefully. Cut into halves or pieces, remove seed and immerse in the hot syrup. When fruit is heated through pack at once. Fill each jar or can with syrup and paddle carefully to remove air bubbles. Exhaust No. 3 cans three minutes, process 15 minutes. In glass, process quart jars 20 minutes and half gallon jars 35 minutes.

Secretary of State Warns Corporations

Corporations doing business in Georgia, whether they be foreign or domestic, have been warned to register with the office of the secretary of state, it is announced by Secretary John B. Wilson. The only exception is banks, which are supervised by the state banking department.

Secretary Wilson said that the measure is not designed to raise revenue but is for the purpose of having on record certain information on corporations that is valuable to the general public.

"I wish to warn every corporation that is delinquent with its registration that the law provides for an assessment of $50 upon failure to register as required by law," he said.

The penalty is not assessed, Secretary Wilson explained, except when delinquents continue to refuse to register and failure to pay the assessment promptly may cause prosecution. The registration fee, it is stated, is small.

.. Nobody's Business ..

(By GEE MCGEE, Anderson, S. C.)

FOR RENT: TO SUCKERS

A fellow rented us a furnished cottage in the mountains sight-unseen a few summers ago and described it as follows: "A beautiful summer cottage, 3 rooms, furnished, comfortable; always in a breeze; one month $75.00, season $150.00." That's the way his "ad" read—except he elaborated about running water, beautiful sunset, near a fine highway, etc.

Well, we sent our check for $75.00 in advance and took it for one month. We packed up a few things, such as wearing apparel, and 3 extra blankets—fearing that these breezes might get too cool while breezing some night, but as the cottage was "furnished," we didn't think we would need much.

We arrived at "Peep-Inn"—that's what he called it—about 7 o'clock one evening. We hunted 3 hours among the brush, gullies, ravines and boulders before encountering "Peep-Inn," but she was finally discovered, and from then on I had no more regard for anything called "Peep-Inn."

This shack possibly cost the shark who rented it to us $25.00. It was a 1-room affair with a lattice fence built across the middle and 4 guano sacks hung in a corner to make the third room. It was made of rough boards with the bark on them. It was covered with second hand tin. I dropped my keys and pocketbook thru the floor within 2 minutes after I arrived.

The building had no steps at the front or back; you had to jump in and jump out. It was uncleaned and my wife, who is only 5 feet 3, bumped her head on the joist 3 times before she found out that a guy had to stoop down if he did any walking in there. It had 2 windows, but no sash. The door could be opened by lifting it 3 inches; the back door was another guano sack, therefore—it stayed open when the breezes blew.

This "Peep-Inn" bunch of junk was furnished in the following manner: 1 cot, no mattress, 1 oil stove, no burners; 1 frying pan, no handle; 1 lamp, no chimney; 1 bucket with 6 holes in it; 1 bread tray in 3 parts; 1 dish pan bent double, and 1 chair with no back. The bathroom was perched up on the side of the mountain 75 yards away. It was never finished, being topless and doorless.

We spent one night there with the aid of our blankets and our auto lights. Two of us slept in the car. Insects owned "Peep-Inn," body and soul. We never did find the spring or well. It rained 2 days that night and we got a nice shower. We left at 6 o'clock the next morning, and hunted 3 days for "Bert Brown, Real Estate and Rentals." We never found him. He had been heard of, having rented other folks furnished cottages. And then he quit trying to "foolage" while on a vacation and are now satisfied to "rough it" at a good hotel. You don't always get what you pay for as the old saying goes.

A MISSING LINK

flat rock, s. c., July 23, 1933.

I want you to please help me thru the columns of your paper to find the whereabouts of my wife's cousin, Judd Smith, who slipped off from our house one night last week owing me $2 which I loan him on his bonus.

My wife just sets and holds her hands all the time and worries about Judd leaving her bed and board and I hatter do everything from churning to milking her cow. I do not care for him to come back myself if he will send me the $2 as I have no money to lose on her kinkfolds, but she do.

for her sake, please run a big advertisement in your paper in the lost and found department as follows: lost or strayed: Judd Jones, about 6 feet long, brown hair, scarr over his left year where he got struck by my husband; when last saw, had on a hat and a pair of britches and a shirt and a coat and over a tobaccoer constant. his loving cousin will a pre-avialate any information leading to where he is and he can come back if he wants to. rite or foam.

now mr. editor, you can add this postscript to the above:

Judd, if you will send me my $2 at once by mail, you can keep everything else you carried off and not come back home a-tall and no questions will be asked or answered.

yorks tralle, Mike Clark, rfd. home owner.

he will no doubt be found around pool rooms, or where free food is served.

with 3.2, so don't waste no time looking for him where work is going on at the r. f. c. headquarters. if you see anybody trying to horry $50 from everybody he meets, that is him.

if I had my 25 which he owes me, I would not rite this peace about him, but make out like to my wife that I had rote same so's she could quit worrying and cry her turns about the house instead of me. she is a-feared that he has been kidnappd, but I explained to her that nobody without money to pay a ransom with is ever kidnappd and that leaves judd out.

The BIG BOXING MATCH

the prize fight which was held in flat rock last Friday night was very well attended considering everything the boxers who anticipated in the 2 fights were as follows: kid gleeson from cedar lane and his brother, thier and 2 other fellows from atlanta, georgy, so they said.

the fight was called to order by the emper with a whistle and he announced the fighters, and they got up from their chairs in the corner and pulled open their bathrobes and shook hands with themselves and bowed. the fight by endings was as follows:

kid gleeson and the atlanta boxer started off by jumping and hopping around for 3 minutes with their gloves being pointed towards each other but nobody had got struck when the bell rung.

the whistle blown again and the boxers commenced to dance the hootchy-kootchy around on the flat-rope-making like one of same was going to hit the other one, but over time he struck at him, he dodged, and then the bell rang.

the crowd commenced to holler—"say, chicken roosters, we dident come here and pay our ten-sentes to see you hop around in the ring like a cricket. if you all aint going to fight, take off yore gloves and b. v. d. suits and give us our money back, we'll see we can go home." and then the bell rung.

kid gleeson slipped down on a banana peeling which the emper dropped on the mat and while he was getting up, atlanta struck him a side blow on the hip and then kid hit at him but missed his upper cut to the jaw. well.

atlanta swung a heavy right to the emper's nake and knocked him against the ropes and then kid gleeson eased up behind him and hit him on the left leg a light tap, and then atlanta found out where kid gleeson had gone to. well.

no licks was passed in this ending as atlanta's glove come off and befor the emper could get it tied back on the bell rung, somebody flung a cabbage head into the ring and it busted on the feet of one of the other judges who had got up on same. he got very mad and wanted to fight, but he couldn't pick out nobody small enuff to suit him.

atlanta run into the arms of kid gleeson and they hugged a minnet or so and then the emper walked be-twixt them and sep-erated them as the fighting arena sent no place to show love and affection. as this was the last ending, it was called a draw and we all went home and didnt stay for the other dance and fox trot.

"BACK TO SOIL" ORDER ISSUED

Washington, D. C., July 23.—President Roosevelt today wielded the power vested in him through the industrial recovery act to bring about a redistribution of people in the nation's populous centers.

Issuing an executive order, the president authorized Secretary of the Interior Ickes to use the $25,000,000 federal appropriation under section 205 of the recovery act to begin a "back-to-the-soil" movement.

This is in line with the president's plan for aiding such workers as miners who cannot find work in coal fields to migrate to nearby farm lands.

David D. Bulck, founder of the automobile company which bears his name, died recently a poor man, having earned his living for several years as instructor in a trade school.

HALF YEAR SALES EQUALS LAST YEAR

CHEVROLET PRODUCTION GOES FAR BEYOND GOAL SET AT BEGINNING OF YEAR.

Detroit, Mich. July 24.—With 15 days more than one half of the year, production of new Chevrolet cars and trucks equalled the full twelve months' production of 1932, when car number 394,005 came off the assembly line at Flint, Mich., it was announced by W. S. Knudsen, president and general manager of Chevrolet Motor Company.

By July 1 production so far this year had already reached the 358,741 mark, leaving only 35,264 to be completed and pass the twelve-month mark of 1932. The rapid rate of manufacturing at the company's twenty plants is attested to by the fact that these 35,264 units—more than the July total of last year—were completed in only 15 working days.

On the basis of present schedules, July production this year will compare favorably with that of May and will be the best July since 1929. July production this year will be approximately 2½ times the production of July, 1932. Mr. Knudsen also pointed out that production in every month of this year, with the exception of March, surpassed production in the same months of 1932. March production, although retarded by the national bank holidays, fell short of March 1932 production by only 226 cars.

Early in the year an output of 450,000 cars was fixed for 1933. But so great was the demand for new Chevrolets that this figure was revised upwards to well over 500,000 units. And by the end of July 1933, 75 per cent of this objective will have been attained.

It was also noted by Mr. Knudsen that the production this year, already equal to that of 1932, is an outstanding performance because of the great volume annual turnover by Chevrolet, and that his company's operations have a far-reaching influence in promulgating prosperity to hundreds of thousands of people, directly and indirectly.

In this connection, Mr. Knudsen stated that employment totals had ascended from 32,922 for the week ending January 7, of this year, to 40,643 for the week ending Saturday, July 8.

Present production is closely following retail sales.

WALTER N. FLETCHER

Walter N. Fletcher was the son of F. N. and Elizabeth Fletcher. He was born in Statesboro, Ga., May 19, 1888; departed this life July 19, 1933, leaving a wife and two sons, 1933, making his stay on earth 45 years, 2 months and 2 days.

He was married to Miss Lottie Baxley in October, 1912. To this union were born two children, an infant son which passed on to be with God, and a daughter, Billie Jewel, who is now six years of age.

Thirty-three years of his life were spent in Statesboro. He was a man of determination and untiring energy. For many years he was associated with the Statesboro Undertaking Company. His devotion to his work, pleasing personality, warm heart and open hand won for him a host of friends whose friendship faded not with the years. His host of friends loved him with an affection which readily threw about him the mantle of charity, covering up all ever failings he may have possessed, and to them he was a man among men. The full confidence and esteem.

Leaving Statesboro twelve years ago, he went to Albany, where he followed his profession there. He then located in Dothan, Ala., where he resided and followed his profession until the end came. There as here, he readily made friends and soon enjoyed the confidence and esteem of all who knew him. He established himself as one of Dothan's leading citizens whose influence was felt in every avenue of life and by both young and old. His passing came a deep gloom over the entire city and they feel they have suffered an irreparable loss.

He leaves a devoted wife, a sweet little daughter, the loving mother who gave him birth, four brothers and two sisters to mourn his going.

He was not identified with any church, being like Joseph of Arimathea, a "secret" disciple of the Lord. He was a firm believer in the God of the Bible, an ardent lover of Jesus, respecting the Bible as God's inerrant Word, rejoicing in its teaching, with which he was more familiar than with any active church members. He was strong in the faith of the Primitive Baptists.

Mysteries indeed are the providences of God! Time and again we ask ourselves the question, Why? Oh, Why? and God has not seen fit to answer.

Knowing that God doeth all things well, and that all his ways are right and just, we submit to His will and look forward to that day when we shall meet our loved one and friend in the land of no more sorrow, where none ever grow old, where sickness, sorrow, pain and death are left and indirectly.

40,643 for the week ending Saturday, July 8.

Present production is closely following retail sales.

feared no more, where partings never come, burdens are all laid down, all tears are wiped away, and peace and joy eternally reign.

Until that good day let us as Christians say unto our loved one: Farewell.

Funeral services were held from the Statesboro Primitive Baptist church, Elder William H. Crouse in charge, assisted by Rev. E. F. Morgan. Interment was in East Side cemetery.

WILLIAM H. CROUSE.

Putnam Farmers Have Curb Market

Putnam county rural homemakers are finding that it is possible to add to the farm income by assembling various products here two days each week to form a curb market. The extent of this income can best be measured by the $19,002.08 that these farm women have realized from the project since opening the market in January.

Products finding their way on this market include cakes, pies, cookies, doughnuts, cheese straws, boiled ham, bread, light bread, nut bread, brown bread, graham bread, chicken salad, sweet milk, cream, buttermilk, butter, boiled custard, ice cream, cottage cheese, barbecue, Brunswick stew, sausage, spare ribs, poultry either live or dressed, eggs, all vegetables adapted to the community, pickles, preserves, jams, jellies, canned meats, candies, brush brooms, kindling and fresh fruits, reports Mrs. Frank Boatright, president of the county home demonstration council.

A bulletin board with items carried in the market and their prices is prepared before the hour of opening each market day. This is displayed where those selling as well as the buyers can see it. As an added feature to the market a ticket is given with each purchase of 10 cents or more entitling the purchaser to a chance at a cake which is given away each Saturday.

This market has not had to pay any house rent, but some have expenses, therefore the member pays 10 cents each for each day they sell on the market. The accumulated surplus from this fee is used to send representatives to the state short course for women and 4-H club girls, which is held at Camp Wilkins.

Prosperity is returning. Robbers were able to get $5,000 in cash out of a country bank in Kentucky the other day.

BY THE WAY

(By Edna Parrish Rousseau)

Washington, D. C., July 22, 1933.

Among the famous relics placed on the auction block this week by the old Leadbetter's Drug Store at Alexandria, Va., was a letter written by Martha Washington from Mount Vernon ordering "a quart of castor oil, and a bill for it." The American Pharmaceutical Association bid it in at $51. The conscientious objectors to the old-time household remedy may come to look on it with new favor now they are assured that the intensely domestic Martha had decided notions as to its healing properties. Consequently, as a castor oil advertisement the expenditure of $51 by the American Pharmaceutical Association may be a good investment. Most assuredly, these people do not go in for collecting historical relics.

Honoring the nation's capital with a visit is the Ethiopian prince, Ras Desta Denta, son-in-law of Emperor Haile Selassie I., "Conquering Lion of Judah," descendant of King Solomon and Queen of Sheba. He is paying his respects to this government in return for its representation to the emperor's coronation three years ago. Representative Sol Bloom took pleasure in pointing out to him the things of interest about Washington. It may be possible for Mr. Bloom to take up a little literature left over from the George Washington Bi-Centennial, as well as a life-sized bust of the "Father of the Land" for the prince to take away as souvenirs. The only objection is, the prince might forget and do a little salivating before the spiny-necked piece of statuary which would get him in Dutch back home.

The report of Dr. Frank E. Lutz, of the American Museum of Natural History covering the ability of bees to see ultra-violet rays has been editorially referred to in the New York Herald Tribune as a matter of interest to evolutionists. They state that "at the time the first bees evolved the earth was dim and cloudy millions of years of comparative drought, warmth and clearer air," and would suggest that Dr. Lutz make similar tests with other insects such as cockroaches or termites as these bee ancestors "are believed to have originated in the dim and cloudy climate of the Age of Coal."

Certainly, a lot of people would gladly offer Dr. Lutz gratis for experimental purposes all the cockroaches and other queer creatures that dart away from sudden lights he could round up in their cellars. But the least are a strange contrast to the dainty bee. And think of the fun this gentleman would have taking a bath afterwards.

Mr. E. G. Hurja, a native West Virginian, is reputed slated for the diplomatic service in Finland. Right now Mr. Hurja is acting as contact for Jim Farley. It is his business to O. K. applicants for positions under the National Recovery Act. But so far, his approval availed the applicants nothing. The recovery set-up split into two factions, and a mighty family row is raging. The opposing forces will accept for appointment no applicants bearing credentials from Mr. Hurja, and they will accept no authority to place them otherwise. So, therefore, consequently, the upshot of it all is the poor applicant is left twisting and turning in the "anxious seat" while the fight goes on. But perhaps no more fitting selection could have been made to handle the situation than Mr. Hurja. He is a largish man, tipping the scales somewhere between 200 to 300 pounds, of pleasing personality, calm and cool in his manner always, suave. The soft postiveness in his tone acts as a tonic to the waiting applicants who feel they have run a temperature from sheer worry, and placidly they go away to "come again another day." The Finns will be fortunate indeed should Mr. Hurja find his way there.

Oglethorpe Stamps

Advertise Georgia

Atlanta, Ga., July 17.—Georgia again will be the center of the world through the Oglethorpe Commemorative Bi-Centennial Stamp. Postmaster E. K. Large, of Atlanta, has just received six million of the second printing of this stamp, quantities of which have been sent to post offices in all parts of the country. According to information furnished by Postmaster Large to Albert R. Rogers, executive secretary and director of celebration of the Georgia Bi-Centennial Commission, the second printing of the Oglethorpe stamp will be distributed only to Atlanta and third and fourth class post offices in Georgia and to first and second class postoffices outside of Georgia.

Mr. Rogers issued an appeal to all Georgia individuals and businesses to help advertise this state and the Bi-Centennial celebration by using the Oglethorpe commemorative stamps on their correspondence, going out outside of Georgia.

"This issue must be exhausted," said Mr. Rogers, "and the state is unlikely that there will be another printing of this Oglethorpe stamp, so the present is, doubtless, the only opportunity that will be offered to make use of the stamps. The second printing total is only fifteen million."

4-H CLUB GIRLS MEET IN ATHENS

Athens, Ga., July 13.—The state short course for farm women and 4-H club girls will be held at Camp Williams, situated on the campus of the College of Agriculture, during the week of July 24-29, announced Miss Lurline Collins, state home demonstration agent, here today.

Present and future rural home makers from every county in Georgia organized for agricultural extension work will attend this camp. Miss Collins stated that preparations were being made to take care of between 700 and 1,000 campers. The group making up this year's course will be composed of outstanding leaders from the counties represented. Accompanying these campers will be home demonstration agents, who will assist in conducting the short course in an educational as well as recreational way.

On Thursday during the week the State Home Demonstration Council will hold its annual conference, according to Mrs. Hester Tuckman, Deep Step, president of the council.

Remove Idle Hens

From Poultry Flock

Athens, Ga., July 25.—Removing loafers from the poultry flock can best be done during this season of the year. Poor hens stop laying when unfavorable conditions come on during hot summer, and too, the poor producer lays its few eggs during the spring and is ready for a vacation during the summer. R. J. Richardson, extension poultryman of the College of Agriculture, the University of Georgia, points out.

Loafers in the flock may be identified by their small yellow, dry and puffed vent; yellow eyes; yellow beak; fat, yellow shanks; narrow span; dried, small and shrunken comb; dull sunken eye, and fat rough head.

Good producers that never take a summer vacation usually have a large, white and moist vent; white eyes; white beak; lean white shanks; wide span; large, bright comb; prominent clear eye, and lean, well-proportioned head.

Removing non-producers or poor producers from the flock saves money on the feed bill, which in turn adds to the profits to be had from the flock.

Take water pumps, for instance. Many a Georgia woman, in the smaller towns and on the farms, was doomed to waste her strength drawing and carrying water from the well until electric service came along to relieve her of this drudgery. And the electric current for a modern water pump costs only about two cents a day for the average family. That's less than it costs to mail a letter.

Kitchen, living-room, any room owns its own breezes when an electric fan is doing its Summertime work. It seems foolish to suffer from the heat when an electric fan will run as long as twenty solid hours on only a nickel's worth of current, doesn't it?

And there are many, many other things that electric service can do for you which are just as simple, just as valuable and just as cheap!

TALMADGE WOULD CONTROL SENATE

CALLS ON VOTERS TO ELECT MEN WHO WILL FOLLOW HIS LEAD IN LEGISLATION.

Wadkinsville, Ga., July 26.—Governor Talmadge stressed the need for a revised senate membership today in opening his campaign for a legislative term in accordance with his governmental policies in an address before an Oconee county homecoming crowd.

The governor in coming here invaded the home district of State Senator Hugh A. Carithers, of Windsor, vice-president of the senate and a leader of the oppositionist bloc in the upper house. Carithers was in the audience.

He called on his audience to send to the next senate, which meets in regular session in 1935, only those who would enact his measures and especially pleaded for a working majority in the next senate. The governor's present term expires early in 1935 and he must make another race for office next summer with an election in the fall, unless unopposed.

The crowd halted the governor several times during the course of his attack on the senate to assure him the opposing senators "wouldn't get back," and cheered him for his attacks on the senate, and also on the members of the highway board, whom he displaced with military authority and has filled their places with his own appointees.

The old highway regime was scored by the governor for alleged extravagances and political dissension.

Governor Talmadge promised that at a later date he would supply the voters with the names of those who have opposed him in the senate and who are for his principles of government and I sure do not want any of those 30 who formed the bloc which defeated my $3 auto tag bill and other measures last time."

Reviewing his controversy with the highway board members whom he ousted, the governor said "Barnett is dead and don't know it." Capt. J. W. Barnett was formerly chairman of the road board.

Referring briefly to his suspension of the five public service commissioners and the appointment of successors, he said:

"I promised to lower public utility rates in Georgia. I have started to do that by suspending the old commission and setting up a new one. If this commission don't lower rates, I'll back it up with my own."

Later in commenting on his speech, Governor Talmadge said:

"Well, the real campaign of next year started today. We must have a legislature that will work with the governor if we are to make progress."

Blitch and Vansant Find Business Good

Returning home from a visit to the Century of Progress Exposition in Chicago, where they went as a reward for outstanding sales work, J. R. Vansant and J. D. Blitch, of the Georgia Power Company, said today that throughout the Middle West there are definite signs that business is rapidly getting back to a pre-depression basis.

Factories are putting men back to work, wages and salaries are being increased, retail sales outlets all are reporting great gains in volume and the general atmosphere is one of optimism. The Century of Progress is an excellent reflection of this new attitude and after a visit one cannot help but feel that the depression is now ancient history.

On the way home from Chicago, Messrs. Vansant and Blitch and fifteen other Georgia Power men who also made the trip, stopped in Detroit as guests of Kelvinator Corporation and inspected the big refrigerator factory there. Kelvinator Corporation, which has had its best season of all time, already has raised the wages of its own employees and is now making more refrigerators than it ever has at this time of year, they said.

COURT TO CONTINUE SEVERAL DAYS YET

Bulloch superior court, convened Monday of last week and in session since, will probably extend through the remainder of this week and into next week. Up to the present time only civil cases have been tried, and there are yet one or two assigned before the criminal docket is reached. However, it is proposed to begin upon the trial of criminal cases today.

TO RAISE PRICE TO THE PRODUCER

PROCESSING TAX ON FLUE-CURED TOBACCO WOULD BE PAID FARMER.

Washington, D. C., July 26.—A processing tax on flue-cured tobacco is being considered by the farm adjustment administration to raise the price to the producer.

Much depends upon the price paid producers for this year's harvest, the market opening early in August.

Agriculture department statisticians estimate that a price of 15.55 cents a pound would be on a par with the pre-war average to which the department is attempting to raise farm commodities.

The price for flue-cured tobacco last year averaged 11.6 cents, a difference of more than three cents a pound.

As in the case of wheat, an processing tax which might be applied on flue-cured tobacco this year would be paid the farmer in return for agreements to slash his acreage next year.

The tax would be paid by the handler of the tobacco who made the first conversion from its raw state toward the finished product.

The harvest of flue-cured tobacco for 1933 is estimated at 900,000 acres. The production is placed at 63 per cent above the 1932 crop. In 1932 there was an unusually low harvest and the crop this year is estimated to be below any since 1925.

A surplus has aided in depressing the price, the total supply for next year being placed at more than one billion pounds as against a domestic consumption in the 1932-33 season of slightly less than 500,000,000 pounds.

States in which virtually all the flue-cured tobacco is grown are Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia and Florida.

SOBERTON EDITOR COMMITS SUICIDE

Horace M. Flinders, editor of Soberston and Swainsboro, ended his life with a pistol shot through his brain last Saturday morning at his home in Soberston. His act of self-destruction was the result of long illness over ill health. For ten years or longer he had been an invalid as result of injuries sustained when he was shot down on the streets of Soberston by a merchant as the outgrowth of some newspaper article.

Later Mr. Flinders was waylaid on the highway by a gang of unknown persons and badly beaten. He barely survived these injuries and of late years had gradually grown more feeble. He was in his bed when, at six o'clock Saturday morning, his family heard a pistol shot and going to his side found his fatally injured. He lived about four hours and regained consciousness, during which time he expressed regret at his rash act.

Mr. Flinders was a brother of A. A. Flinders, of Statesboro. He is survived by his wife and three grown children.

Public Works Program To Aid All Sections

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 1.—The public works program in Georgia will mean not only that relief will be brought to both labor and business, but that the people of the state will be given the benefits of public improvements that otherwise they might not expect for years to come, in the opinion of business men, industrial leaders and newspaper editors.

It is understood that a wide latitude of projects is possible under the provisions of the act setting up the federal public works program and every man, woman and child can be profited by the expenditures in Georgia, if, as the Atlanta Constitution puts it, "they are wisely and economically directed. This is said to be assured by the personnel of the board."

COLLEGE WINS ITS FIGHT FOR AUTO

MISS WOMACK SOUGHT TO HOLD CAR AS GIFT FROM DONALDSON, HER ALLEGED FIANCEE

South Georgia Teachers College won and Miss Tommie Womack lost in the fight for the possession of an automobile in superior court, which fight began Tuesday morning and continued till Wednesday afternoon.

The car around which the battle raged is a handsome Graham of late model and of considerable value. It was shown to have been purchased from a Savannah concern by D. J. Donaldson, who is alleged to have burglarized the safe at South Georgia Teachers College here in June of last year to the cash extent of approximately $2,600.

The robbery occurred on the 6th of June last year. Efforts to discover who had committed the robbery were fruitless till in early September, when a similar robbery was committed at Sylvania, when Alfred Dorman's business was robbed. Information came from a Savannah concern that a man driving a new Graham car was believed to have robbed the Dorman store. The next afternoon a man riding in a car of that description came to Statesboro. Deputy Sheriff Riggs sought to detain him, but found himself outdistanced by the stranger, who, when commanded to "wait a minute, I want to speak to you," used an oath and fled. This man was known to be D. J. Donaldson. Two days later Miss Womack, a comely Bulloch county young woman recently living in Savannah, came into town driving the same Graham car. When the closing hour of the car and left Miss Womack to proceed, according to her announced plan, to Savannah on a bus. A few minutes later Miss Womack, it is said, applied at a hotel for evidence that she was married and that she had a car in her possession. She was told that the car was not hers and that she was to return it to the owner. She was told that the car was not hers and that she was to return it to the owner.

As is customary, the second day of the trial was considerably less in quantity, aggregating around 50,000 pounds, though the prices per pound were approximately the same.

According to reports from other sources, the state, Statesboro's record for the opening was entirely creditable both as to quantity and prices. Few markets gave exact figures, and those who did invariably were below Statesboro in price though many of them exceeded her in quantity sold.

Statesboro Merchants Sign Up for Recovery

In another column will be found the formal announcement of three of Statesboro's leading retail stores, United Dry Goods, Store, Carey & Martin, manager; The Outlet Store, Meyer Pike, manager; and Slotin & Co. (Martin's 5c & 10c Store), Miss Grace Aldred, manager, announcing their formal acceptance of the president's national recovery plan. It is announced that these establishments have arranged to comply with every detail of the requirements of the National Recovery Act, beginning next Monday, August 7th. The example of these people will go a long way toward leading the local merchants to an agreement on the measure, and C. Jones of Statesboro, Hinton Booth and Deal and Renfro represented the College.

The exact center of the Great Divide has been determined to be Reno, Nev.

5-Cent Dresses Make Their Appearance

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 1.—Five-cent afternoon frocks were shown at Raleigh, N. C., recently by North Carolina farm women attending the annual convention of the state federation of home demonstration clubs, according to an Associated Press report received here.

Dresses they showed were made from two sacks, guano bags, flour bags, tobacco twine and out-of-date men's suits.

Mrs. W. B. Lamb, of Garland, N. C., modeled a dress from a lace curtain 30 years old, while Mrs. J. P. Owens, of Wallace, showed a dress made from her husband's 1926 suit.

Mrs. Glenn Caudle, of Rockingham county, showed a corn shuck hat, dress and purse to match which cost 30 cents to make, and Mrs. D. L. Neal, of Morrisville, knitted a dress from tobacco twine at a cost of less than 30 cents.

LOCAL MERCHANTS UNABLE TO AGREE

HOURS FOR OPERATION OF BUSINESS IS STUMBLING BLOCK TO NRA PLAN.

Statesboro's merchants and salespeople are fully agreed to join in the National Recovery plan of President Roosevelt, but the problem which is giving them much worry at the present moment is how they are going to do so.

Two well-attended meetings have been held during the present week. Monday evening there were a hundred or more at the court house when the problem was first openly discussed. For more than an hour the matter was viewed from every angle, and at the close of the conference committees were named to represent the various lines of business—groceries, drugs, filling stations, barber shops—each of which committee was empowered to draft plans to be submitted back to a second meeting Tuesday evening.

It was at this last conference, attended by seventy-five or more merchants, that the entire proposition was stated in detail without ability to reach agreement.

The committee representing the various lines had been able to formulate plans satisfactory to themselves, but these various lines could not agree with other lines. The entire problem hinged around the hours of opening and closing. Dry goods merchants agreed to open at 9:30 and close at 5:30 each day except Saturday; on Saturday to remain open one hour later. Grocery stores agreed to open at eight o'clock and close at 5:30 except on Saturday, when the closing hour would be 6:30. Drug stores were to open at 8 and close at 7:30 daily.

The committee report proposed for hardware and furniture stores to observe the same hours as dry goods stores and for barber shops to observe those of grocery stores.

The discussion of this report revealed the inability of all the groups to get together. It was brought out that some hardware stores sell groceries, therefore they demanded the right to remain in the class, and some filling stations sell groceries, therefore they would be expected to fall in that group. All of which was extremely difficult to harmonize with the plan.

Throughout the entire discussion there was made clear the necessity to adopt the president's plan in some way that would cause the least possible hardship upon the businesses affected. One merchant made the pointed statement that, if every business hours, therefore they demanded the right to remain in the class, and some filling stations sell groceries, therefore they would be expected to fall in that group. All of which was extremely difficult to harmonize with the plan.

Portal Young Man Dies in Washington

Announcement has been received here of the death of Parlette Sudath, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Sudath, at the Walter Reed Hospital, Washington, D. C., Wednesday. The body is being brought home for burial which will be in the Portal cemetery following services Friday afternoon at the Portal Methodist church.

Young Mr. Sudath, who was 18 years of age, enlisted in the restoration work and was assigned to Fort Benning, Columbus. From there he was transferred to Commerce, Ga., for work, and shortly thereafter became ill. He was sent to the national hospital in Washington for treatment, where he died yesterday. It is understood that his death is attributed to a head injury which he sustained in a ball game a year or more ago, but which injuries were not thought to be serious until recent complications developed.
